

Knife Attacks 2020–2025: Summary Report

This report summarizes knife-related fatal and non-fatal attacks in Europe, North America, and Asia over the past five years (2020–2025).

Table 1: Fatalities per Year and Region

Year	Asia	Europe	North America
2021	7	12	1
2022	0	0	6
2023	0	2	0
2024	5	1	4
2025	0	0	0

The analysis reveals that knife attacks remain a recurring form of individual violence, with significant regional variations. Notably, 2021 and 2024 saw peaks in total fatalities, particularly in Asia (2024) and Europe (2021). North America displayed a gradual increase from 2022 onward. These events often occur in public or semi-public spaces such as transport hubs, entertainment districts, or residential areas, with many connected to individual or mental health crises rather than coordinated attacks.
